Legion Reports on "Boys In Service" Program for 1942

Local Legion Post Collects $1333.18 in Drive for Service Men

Figures contained in a report published this week on page five of the News reveal that the Antioch Legion has collected $1333.18 for gifts for service men from Antioch and Lake Villa townships.

Money for the support of the program was raised in various ways, benefit entertainments and the public's generous gifts in collection boxes placed in business places were principal sources of the large amount collected.

Cash for Service Men

Among the expenditures during the year were cash gifts totaling $706.76 mailed to service men of the community; part of the cost of the erection of the service men's honor roll dedicated in the Village park on Nov. 22; and the Legion paid $172.50 to the Antioch News accounting for about 50% of the cost of sending the News to 300 service men in 1942.

The Legion acknowledges donations of labor and material from the Antioch Lumber and Coal Co. and the Antioch Garage, and a 50-50 cash donation from the Antioch Lions Club in connection with the erection and dedication of the service men's roll of honor. Legionnaires extend thanks to all who contributed to the fund. It is believed that the fund will be greater in 1943 and that further service can be rendered to the Sailors, Soldiers, Marines and Coast Guard from this locality.

Hundreds of letters from men in service are on file at the office of the local legion post adjutant expressing appreciation of the work the local citizens are doing on the home front.

On August 11, 1883, she was united in marriage with Alva Paddock, who preceded her in death on June 5, 1925.

Warning Issued by State Director of Selective Service

Care in Following Regulations Urged by Roman Vos, Local Registrar

A drive to round up every Selective Service registrant classified as delinquent was ordered today by Col. Paul G. Armstrong, State Director. The drive in Illinois, he said, is a part of a nation-wide effort to eliminate every pending case of delinquency from Selective Service records by February 1, 1943.

"We hope to eliminate every case of delinquency due to negligence from the records of local boards in Illinois by February first," said the State Director. "Although it is not the intention of the Selective Service System to embarrass registrants who are unintentionally delinquent by branding them as law violators, the time has come for a serious plan of action to be put into effect to remove delinquency from our records and to forward cases of deliberate delinquency to the United States District Attorney for prosecution."

The State Director listed the various types of delinquency as follows:

1. Persons required to register who failed to do so.
2. Persons who have failed to respond to an order from a local board.
3. Those who have failed to notify the local board of a change of address.
4. Those who registered but whose registration cards failed to reach the proper local board because of illegible addresses or other defects in completing the cards at the time of registration, or for some other reason failed to reach, finally, the proper local board.
5. Those who failed to report to the local board a change of employment or other status.
6. Men who were required to register and did register, but are known to be deliberate violators of the law.

Beginning February 1, the State Director said, a new regulation will require that every registrant who, for six months or more, has been registered and is liable for training and service, must have on his person at all times not only his registration certificate but his notification of classification card also.

"After January 31," Col. Armstrong warned, "no registrant can have any excuse for delinquency. Therefore, in order to avoid federal prosecution and possible imprisonment, every registrant who has failed to notify his local board of a change of address or otherwise neglected his lawful duties must take immediate steps to clear up his delinquency."

Roman H. Vos, local Selective registrar, urges that every man comply with all regulations. Men who have changed address, employment or have had any change in status requiring a report to the draft board may communicate with Mr. Vos, who is an agent of the board.

All men who reach 18 must register on their birthday or on the following day if it falls on a Sunday or holiday. Young men who are employed and are unable to register during regular office hours may do so in the evening by arranging for an appointment with Mr. Vos.

So far, Vos has registered 16 who have attained their 18th birthday during the current draft period.

Lake-Cook Farm Supply Company to Hold Annual Meeting

The Lake-Cook Farm Supply company will hold its annual meeting on January 23, 1943.

The Board of Directors of the Lake-Cook Farm Supply Company in a special meeting held recently, voted dividends of $65,000 to be paid to farm members in the district; the Company serves in Lake and Cook Counties. This dividend will be paid at the Annual Stockholders Meeting to be held in Des Plaines on January 23rd.

This huge dividend was made possible by the economical management of the Company in holding the operating expenses at a very low figure. This is by far the largest dividend ever paid and exceeds that of last year by $10,000. It represents 6% on the Preferred Stock, and 7 1/2% on miscellaneous purchases consisting of feeds, seeds, fertilizers, and fuel oils, and 13 1/2% on the petroleum products.

The audit in the company showed an extremely large increase in business amounting to $700,000 which was $100,000 increase over the year before. The company has completed 15 successful years of business in which a substantial growth has been made from year to year and attractive dividends have always been paid. The company serves the farm trade of Lake and Cook counties with a full line of farm supplies and is entirely owned and operated by the farmers.

School Children Thank Antioch Bd. For Yule Gifts

Council Discusses Delinquent Taxes at Year's First Meeting

Appreciation for Christmas gifts of candies and fruits was expressed by school children of the village and township in letters received by the village board. These were read at the board's first 1943 meeting held at the village hall on Tuesday night.

Although the yule celebration this year lacked the pomp and gaiety of former years, and the Christmas exercises in singing around the community tree, the Village board proved a real "Santa Claus" to grade school children throughout the township. The gifts were distributed by teachers and friends of the children.

Typical of the many letters received by the board was one from the third grade of Antioch grade school, which reads as follows:

Antioch, Ill.
Jan. 4, 1943

Dear Mr. Bartlett:
Thank you and the Village Board members for the nice bag of candies and fruits which you gave to us at Christmas time. We enjoyed everything very much.
Your friends,
The Third Grade.

Ponder Delinquent Taxes

A year ago was introduced at the first meeting of the new year when it was brought to the attention of board members that something would have to be done, and quickly, to effect a collection of delinquent special assessments, some of which have been overdue for several years, and have reached such proportions as to constitute a virtual lien on the property. In some instances, it was pointed out, the delinquent tax had equalled or exceeded the value of the property. It is reported that some of the board members have stated that they intend to bring suit against the village for the collection of principal and interest on the bonds, which have passed maturity, unless some means can be found to reimburse the delinquent properties.

After paying the month's bills the board adjourned.

Legion Is Looking Forward to Annual February Party

The Legion has already signed up 95 paid-up members for 1943, bringing the post close to the 1942 membership of 110.

Practical Postwar Planning

With the first anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor, the tide of the war has taken a definite turn, thanks to the ability of our industries to produce the necessary war tools and the ability of our people to man them.

America has planned well for war. As a result her fighting men now occupy no less than 65 positions in the various war theatres of the world. With these men have gone the products of American industry, the finest ships and planes and tanks and guns that man has ever produced, together with supplies, clothing, and foods for millions of Allied fighting men.

Eventually our armed forces will sweep the forces of evil before them, and, while there is a long, hard road ahead peace, with its many vital and varied problems, will return.

There must be no Pearl Harbor of peace. There must be no violent upheaval in the change-over from wartime to peacetime operation. The change to the postwar order, toward which we are building, must be accomplished with as little disorder and confusion as possible.

It is only natural that industry should play a leading part in the planning for peace as it has in the planning for war, because in industry's hands are the tools and the equipment with which a sound peacetime economy may be implemented.

In its postwar planning activities the National Association of Manufacturers deals not with fantasy but with fact, not with promises but with pay rolls, not with jargon but with jobs. Essentially practical because a satisfactory postwar era involves the material things of life, industry's postwar program deals with men, materials, money, and management.

Towards a sound, enduring postwar economy: the Association is taking positive steps to facilitate transition from war production to peace production, to provide jobs, to alleviate maladjustments, to prevent abuses either in business, labor or government, and to sustain prosperity.

Seven Tons Per Soldier

Since our military forces have seized the initiative and launched offensive operations, the production load placed upon industry has been tremendously increased.

No longer is industry producing only for Lend Lease, training camps, and warehouses. It is now producing for active, offensive fronts which are using up, wearing out, and destroying the output of our plants.

For every soldier who landed in Africa, seven tons of equipment and supplies were set down on the beach. And, in addition to this, we must send these forces one and a half tons per month per man as long as he is overseas.

The opening of a new front in Africa by American forces will practically double the demand for production in many war plants. With no doubling of a supply of skilled workers in sight, industrial management must meet this test by increasing its already heavily burdened production machinery in every possible way.

Evading The Issue

A document conspicuous for the things it does not say is a recent seven-point labor-sponsored program for the "fullest mobilization of manpower" as presented to the War Manpower Commission.

At a time when the public needs assurance of labor's willingness to go all-out in the war effort, it gets instead the demand for "national minimum standards for social security." And when the average work week in American industry is 42½ hours as opposed to 60 in England, the labor program does not even mention the subject of longer hours.

The report recognizes the severe manpower shortage. It recommends "full use of all available manpower, including women, Negroes, and all racial groups." But it says nothing about suspending the various "featherbed" and other union practices that are still preventing maximum war output.

Evasion of important issues such as these, at this time, invites the charge of selfishness and short-sightedness on the part of leaders of unions, the majority of whose members are one hundred per cent loyal to the cause and who are not in sympathy with making use of the war emergency for selfish ends.

This man is not dead. He is just sleeping. And sleeping a little more soundly, perhaps, because there are still many Americans who are not putting at least 10% of their pay into War Bonds on a regular Payroll Savings Plan. How about you joining a lot of other fellows in giving the little paperhanger a rude awakening? How about you signing up with a Payroll Savings Plan today... to the tune of not 6%, or 7% or 8%, but 10%, and more if you can? LET'S TOP THAT 10% BY NEW YEAR'S.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO:

- If you are...
1. Already investing 10% of your pay in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan—boost that 10% if you can.

2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed, but haven't signed up yet—sign up tomorrow.
3. Working in a plant where the Payroll Savings Plan hasn't been installed, talk to your union head, foreman, or plant manager—and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
4. Unable to get in on the Payroll Savings Plan for any reason, go to your local bank, or wherever Bonds are sold. They will be glad to help you start a Plan of your own.

Need Civilian

Workers to Aid Army Engineering

Out of the welter of facts supplied us by the multiple governmental bureaus and agencies weekly we glean these choice bits of information about this and that. . . . the OWI reports that there are 15,000,000 women—less than 23 per cent of the total population—gainfully employed, 4,000,000 of them in war work. This figure is expected to reach 18,000,000 by next year. . . . According to Joe Wright of the University of Illinois, "The cost of living had its greatest advance in 1941 and the first three months of 1942 with total increases of nearly 20 per cent. In 1943 the advance will be slower, but by the end of the year another 5 to 10 per cent will be added." Happy thought, eh? . . . The Illinois state department of conservation estimates that about 85,000 ducks were killed this fall. Hunters were fewer but evidently better shots, as the average bag was larger. . . . The Illinois State Horticultural Society claims to have located the final resting place of "Johnny Appleseed," whose real name was John Chapman. According to the story, "Johnny" carried on a single-handed

Christmas Gifts You Knit or Crochet Will Be Appreciated

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

LIKE to crochet? Like to knit? If so good fortune attends you in that your yuletide gift problems are solved. Gifts you make yourself are always appreciated much more than the usual run of presents that you buy at the last moment in a panicky rush with a hasty parting injunction to the salesperson to "wrap as a gift and be sure not to forget to take the price tag off." Yes, indeed, it's when you crochet or knit your affection stitch by stitch into the article you give that you convey a message that means something really deep and lasting and worthwhile.

This year knitters and crocheters are in their glory, for never have the knit and crochet arts played so glamorous a role in the fashion world as now. Yarn novelties of every description are the rage. The new hat and huge pillow-muff sets that work yarn so intriguingly, the hats be-lasseled and be-fringed, the muffs trimmed with shaggy loop-crochet borders; the sweaters that thrill you with their little crochet ruffle trimmings and ball fringe; the crochet neckpiece fantasies; the snoods, wimples, headkerchiefs and fanciful crochet shawls that are writing a new chapter into the knit and crochet story simply fascinate with their gay charm.

Wouldn't any girl love to receive a pair of after-skiing socks among the gift suggestions pictured? These snow white socks so guilely flower embroidered are knit of soft Shetland floss, and it does not take long for a nimble knitter to make them. The snow white mittens with vividly colorful flower decoration spell hours of fun and frolic for the fortunate recipient, but it coats the ambitious knitter but a few leisure half hours and three balls of sweater wool for knitting needles to click into shape. So there goes another gift problem solved.

Blouse sweater, seven balls; hat, three balls of mercerized crochet cotton; that's all you will need, plus a crochet hook and a determination "to do and to dare." In order to make the matching sweater blouse and pillbox hat with mesh snood illustrated to the left in the above picture. Here is an ensemble that ranks ace-high in smartness, comfort and good looks. When you are wrapping this choice gift up in tissue paper and gay holiday ribbons, you will be feeling an urge within to knit one just like it for your very own self.

For that friend who is the "soul of order" a set of candy-stripe crochet clothes hangers would be a grand idea. Three balls of mercerized cotton will do the trick. It is really very easy to crochet the peppermint stripes, and the color contrast is very effective.

Crochet is invading many new fields this year. Unique and timely as a gift is the American flag that is crocheted of fast-color pearl cotton in simple double crochet. The colors are true and inspiring. This precious gift makes an appropriate wall hanging for the college girl and any aspiring young boy would covet it for his room. For outdoor use it will be found sturdy and durable.

The three hats pictured achieve clever styling through the use of yarn or chenille trimming. The hat in the top oval is a soft fir green felt with a loop yarn trim that forms a saucy tassel at the back. The neat little number in the oval below is a high-crown black felt bonnet with a crochet band of beige yarn. The youthful beanie is of quilt-attached felt in bright red with a pom-pom of looped chenille. The matching veil adds a piquant note.

Emergency Rations
packed at high speed with Electric Power

Speeding miles ahead of the main unit and supply depot, aviators, paratroopers and advance mechanized units must carry emergency rations in their pockets or packs. These rations developed by the U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps contain concentrated, appetizing foods to maintain the strength, vitality and efficiency of our men.

Not only in the production of these concentrated foods, but in the packaging, too, electric power is an essential factor. As the electric conveyor moves along, each food item is added until the ration unit is completed. Then, by means of a modern electric machine, the container is dipped into molten wax to protect the freshness of the food.

Advance anti-tank units eat healthfully when they are out in the desert, miles from anywhere. The full day's ration—weighing only 2 lbs. 1 oz.—provides 3,250 calories.

(Above) With the aid of vital electric power, hundreds of thousands of emergency ration units are turned out in a single day by the efficient war workers of this plant.

(Left) This illustration shows the items included in the K Dinner Unit. Though compact, this K Dinner offers the calories and body-building elements of a full-course dinner.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 3.

The Golden Text was, "Unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honor and glory for ever and ever" (1 Tim. 1:17).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "O taste and see that the Lord is good; blessed is the man that trusteth in him. Many are the afflictions of the righteous; but the Lord delivereth him out of them all" (Psalms 34:8, 19).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To grasp the reality and order of being in its Science, you must begin by reckoning God as the divine Principle of all that really is. All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love. No wisdom is wise, but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows" (p. 275).

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Contributed by the Baha'i Group
THE GOAL OF A
NEW WORLD ORDER

In the two preceding articles of "The Goal of a New World Order" series, the author, Shoghi Effendi, reviewed general world conditions since the treaties then made as we find them in present-day conditions.

In the following article the author draws our attention to the resultant social symptoms and shows that they bode ill for the future stability of modern civilization.

The Signs of Impending Chaos
"Never indeed have there been such widespread and basic upheavals, whether in the social, economic or political spheres of human activity as

WAUKEGAN MAN TO SPEAK AT P. T. A. MEETING

Bert Williams of Waukegan, principal of the Bonnie Brook school, will speak at the Antioch Grade School P. T. A. meeting Monday evening, Jan. 11, at 8 o'clock. His topic will be "Law Observance."

There will be a short business meeting, musical selections will be given by the pupils and a demonstration will be staged by the Patrol boys.

Refreshments and a social hour will conclude the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schuster and daughter of Chicago spent Monday at the Edmund Vos home. Mrs. Schuster, the former Elsa Roeschlein, is a sister of Mrs. Vos.

those now going on in different parts of the world. Never have there been so many and varied sources of danger as those that now threaten the structure of society. The following words of Baha'u'llah, the Founder of the Baha'i faith, are indeed significant as we pause to reflect upon the present state of a strangely disordered world: "How long will humanity persist in its waywardness? How long will injustice continue? How long is chaos and confusion to reign amongst men? How long will discord agitate the face of society? The winds of despair are, alas, blowing from every direction, and the strife that divides and afflicts the human race is daily increasing. The signs of impending convulsions and chaos can now be discerned, inasmuch as the prevailing order appears to be lamentably defective."

"The disquieting influence of over thirty million souls living under minority conditions throughout the continent of Europe; the vast and ever swelling army of the unemployed with its crushing burden and demoralizing influence on governments and peoples; the wicked, unbridled race of armaments swallowing an ever-increasing share of the substance of already impoverished nations; the utter demoralization from which the international financial markets are now increasingly suffering; the onslaught of secularism invading what has hitherto been regarded as the impregnable thresholds of Christianity and Moslem orthodoxy—these stand out as the gravest symptoms that bode ill for the future stability of the structure of modern civilization. Little wonder if one of Europe's preeminent thinkers, honored for his wisdom and restraint, should have been forced to make so bold an assertion: 'The world is passing through the gravest crisis in the history of civilization. We stand, writes another, before either a world catastrophe, or perhaps before the dawn of a greater era of truth and wisdom.' 'It is in such times,' he adds, 'that religions have perished and are born.'

Europe Divided

'Might we not already discern, as we scan the political horizons the alignment of those forces that are dividing amidst the continent of Europe into camps of potential combatants, determined upon a contest that may mark, unlike the last war, the end of an epoch, a vast epoch in the history of human evolution? Will the world be called upon to witness a cataclysmical change, politically as fundamental and spiritually as beneficent as that which precipitated the fall of the Roman Empire to the West? Might it not happen that out of this world eruption there may stream forces of such spiritual energy as shall recall, nay eclipse, the splendor of those signs and wonders that accompanied the establishment of the Faith of Jesus Christ? Might there not emerge out of the agony of a shaken world a religious revival of such scope and power as to even transcend the potency of those world-directing forces with which the Religions of the past have, at fixed intervals and according to the fortunes of declining ages and peoples? ...

Let Baha'u'llah Himself shed the illumination of His words upon our path as we steer our course amid the pitfalls and miseries of this troubled age. More than seventy-five years ago, in Akka, Palestine, in a world far removed from the ills and trials that now torment it, there flowed from His pen these prophetic words: "The world is in travail and its agitation waxeth day by day. Its face is turned towards waywardness and unbelief. Such shall be its plight that to disclose it now would not be meet and seemly. Its perversity will long continue. And when the appointed hour is come, there shall suddenly appear that which shall cause the limbs of mankind to quake. Then and only then will the Divine Standard be unfurled and the Nightingale of Paradise warble its melody."

"Far from aiming at the overthrow of the spiritual foundation of the world's religious systems, the avowed, the unavowed purpose of the Baha'i Religion, is to widen their basis, to restate their fundamentals, to reconcile their aims, to reinvigorate their life, to demonstrate their oneness, to restore the pristine purity of their teachings, to coordinate their functions and to assist in the realization of their highest aspirations. ... Does not the child succumb in the youth and the youth in the man; yet neither child nor youth perishes?"

"The Goal of a New World Order" was published November 28, 1931, from Haifa, Palestine.

The next article in the series will be "The Impotence of Statesmanship."

Velvet Is a Fabric Favorite For Lovely 'Dress Up' Things

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

VELVET has ever been a magic word in the fabric realm and this season its flattery is being played up more glamorously than ever. It is in lavish mood that designers are stressing velvet throughout fall and winter collections, bringing out most exciting "date dresses" and evening modes styled for "date" wear, for afternoon and after twilight formals, in charming off-duty contrast to sturdy uniforms and functional workaday outfits.

There are many outstanding slants to the velvet vogue that make for big news just now. One is that of the simply tailored afternoon velvet suit that is conceded to be one of the smartest items on fashion's program this season. It adds to its lure that it is so dramatically adaptable to the accompaniment of show-piece furs, lovely, lacy blouses, glittering jeweled buttons and what is most important, high color touches in gloves, bags and begetting hats.

Then, too, stunning separate coats made of ink-black velvet luxuriously collared in ink-black fur carry a message of ace-high chic for winter. Which all goes to show that no matter how formal or casual your sociable moments are, there will be lovely, appropriate costumes for the occasion done in regal velvet which will make you as feminine and elegant as your best beau's heart could desire.

Suitable for any "date" from afternoon to midnight, is the charming priority-correct frock shown to the right in the above illustration. It is fashioned of handsome, wine-colored, crush-resistant transparent rayon velvet. The grand thing about crush-resistant rayon velvet is that it is all that its name indicates—crush-resistant! You can wear it with confidence, knowing that it will keep its freshness. Note especially that gleaming metallic embroidery defines the simulated two-piece effect. Many of the new velvet fashions are gleaming with bead and sequin touches. The slimly fitted bodice has a deep V-neck. Worn over a properly fitted foundation garment (the new slenderizing fashions call for just that) the youthful, slim-waisted lines of this lovely dress are unusually graceful.

The vogue for contrast has inspired the charming "after-five" bolero costume to the left, which is done in rich crush-resistant rayon velvet in deep midnight blue. The long slim lines of the colorful rayon and-metal bodice are accented by the patriotic fabric-conserving brevity of the bolero jacket, making a well-corseted figure a necessity for effective wearing.

The flattery of handsome velvet in deep, rich black is combined with the enchantment of exquisite lace in the charming dinner dress illustrated in the center above, which is designed especially for the woman whose program includes club activities. The graceful, long lines of this dress are accented by effective, velvet-banded puffed sleeves of thin-to-transparency black lace. A cluster of flowers adds coloring to the softly draped neckline.

Enthusiasm for velvet is also finding a new outlet this season in that most important vogue which calls for accessory accents, especially velvet gloves matched to hats, the ensemble carried out in daring colors, notably fuchsia shades, Kelly green, turquoise, and flaming red.

Shawl to Match

As Scotch as heather is this plaid outfit made of spun rayon yarn fabric dyed for true color combinations. The material has a warm, woolly finish. The navy sweater is piped in the plaid of the skirt. The outfit includes slacks, a mannish lined vest, a cap and, most important of all, a three-cornered fringed shawl made of the identical plaid used for the dress. The idea of a cunning shawl "to match" is taking the young campus crowd by storm. These are often embroidered in peasant style and colorfully finished off with hand-tied yarn fringe or with a self-fabric, frayed-fringe edge.

Small or Large—

Hats Are Feathered

Gorgeously colorful feather hats are out in full force. They range from the peasant-pod calots (so tiny you have to look twice before you can identify them as hats) to pillboxes and dashing types that flaunt towering crowns with imposing feather motifs.

A charming feather fantasy that does the "pretty-pretty" gesture is the halo of pastel feather flowers that pose back over your forehead curl.

The single ostrich plume swirls from the front over the top of the hat to the back where it falls low to the nape of the neck.

Ruffles Galore Are Seen

On Coats, Skirts, Suits

Be on the lookout for ruffles galore, for many of the newest fashions are being smartly styled with ruffles.

Even cloth coats are taking on ruffle effects, such as cascades of self fabric running down side closings from neckline to hemline. Tailored suits, too, are softened with jabots of self fabric on the jacket fronts. Afternoon dresses have cascades of ruffles on both skirts and bodice tops. Tiny fluntings and ruche effects fluff off the hemlines of narrow skirts.

Cozy 'Nighties'

The flannelcote nightgowns that we'll be wearing this winter will be old-fashioned, long sleeved ones. Women who never wore these quaint types will be wearing them this year. Some of them are really very pretty, made as they are of flow prints in delectable colors.

Conan Doyle Find Excites Interest Of Holmes Fans

Unpublished Mystery Yarn Is Unearthed Among Author's Documents in London.

LONDON.—"Most astounding, my dear Holmes!" That probably would have been the reaction of faithful Dr. Watson to the revelation from the family of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle that an unpublished Sherlock Holmes story had been discovered among some of the dusty old papers left by the noted writer when he died 12 years ago.

The comment of the millions of devotees who have devoured every one of the Sherlock Holmes stories will probably be much more vocal, however, when they learn of the decision of Conan Doyle's son not to publish the new discovery.

The story, "The Man Who Was Wanted," was found by the author's son, Adrian Conan Doyle, in an old chest among ancient family papers—many of which pre-dated Sir Arthur.

On the envelope in which the manuscript was discovered, was a note in the writing of the author's wife, saying that he did not intend to have the story published because he did not consider it up to the standard set by the others in the Sherlock Holmes series.

Son Opposes Release.

"It is not up to scratch," said his son, "and my father didn't want to run the risk of disappointing his admirers by putting out a story that he felt did not come up to par."

Heath Pearson, biographer of Thomas Hardy, who is preparing a life of Sir Arthur, agreed that the story was "very feeble," and said Sir Arthur showed "good common sense" in withholding it from publication since it might have injured the reputation of the famous detective of Baker street.

The opening scenes of the story in Holmes' quarters, said Mr. Pearson, are "quite as good as anything that Conan Doyle did, but the plot is weak."

The story, which runs six to seven thousand words, concerns the problem of finding a business executive who disappeared when he got into financial difficulties.

With Dr. Watson in amazed attendance, Holmes solves the case by the simple expedient of showing a photograph of the man to friends, neighbors and enemies and making those "remarkable, my dear Sir," deductions from their reactions.

To Be Preserved.

Mr. Pearson, for the past year has been studying Sir Arthur's writings, visiting his acquaintances and studying his ancestry and heredity in preparation for writing the new biography. It was while Sir Arthur's son was working with him in sorting out and studying his father's papers that the unpublished manuscript was discovered.

The existence of the story had not even been suspected prior to its discovery. Adrian has "very definite" plans for preserving the story despite the fact that it may never see print.

"I realize," the son explained, "that there may be a great demand from Sherlock Holmes admirers to have the story published. In that case the family might consent. I cannot say definitely, however, until my elder brother, Dennis Conan Doyle, returns from America."

The story was written several years before Sir Arthur died, but the state of the paper would indicate, his son said, that it was not among the last of his Sherlock Holmes stories.

Blind Judge Decides

Deaf Mute Is Innocent

BUTTE, MONT.—A deaf mute was arraigned before blind Justice of the Peace D. F. Shea on a burglary charge.

The defendant wrote out his "not guilty" plea, and the town constable read it to the sightless judge. The judge questioned the deaf mute by asking his questions of the bailiff, who wrote out the questions and read the written answers to the jurist.

After a sizable crowd of city hall employees had gathered to watch the unusual proceeding, the jurist decided the deaf mute was not guilty and released him.

Ice Cream Goes Off Menu

Of U. S. Army in Britain

LONDON.—Ice cream was taken off the menu at United States army camps in the British Isles because of a ministry of food ruling that ice cream manufacturing is a non-essential industry.

The ministry estimated the ban would save 30,000 tons of transport and 1,000 tons of paper a year.

The United States army agreed to do without ice cream after the ministry's ruling, said they had to continue in operation to fill the needs of the United States forces.

FUN FOR YOUR FAMILY

By MISS ABBIE CONDIT

National Recreation Association.

If you aren't already a "charade" fan, then it's time you polished up your wits and took a try at it. You'll find this game not only a stimulating brain teaser, but also a good outlet for the would-be actors and actresses in your family.

Divide the players into two or more groups and have them each select a leader. Each group then thinks up a good word to dramatize—one scene to represent each syllable and then one at the end of the act to represent the whole word. From these dramatizations the rest of the players are to guess the word. They are informed of the number of syllables and also the type of word, such as verb, proper noun, adjective, etc.

Action may be in pantomime or with conversation. The audience will guess the syllables as they go along.

Take for example the word penmanship. The group will thus: pen-man-ship. To dramatize pen have the group sit on the floor and pretend to write on imaginary paper with an imaginary pen. Occasionally have someone dip his "pen" into an imaginary ink pot.

Next comes the syllable man. Have a group of girls sitting in one corner, apparently gossiping. A man enters suddenly and they all look up in surprise, perhaps pointing at him. If this is not a pantomime, they may exclaim in surprise, "A man!"

Third and last syllable is ship. The group may sit on the floor and pretend to row a boat, while one of the members stands at the "bow," gazing off into the distance. This will cause some hilarious confusion since someone is sure to guess that it is Washington crossing the Delaware, or Columbus discovering America.

For the final scene which is to depict the whole word penmanship have the entire group sit on the floor and pretend to practice penmanship drills or to write slowly and carefully as if in penmanship class.

The illustrations given are fairly easy skits and can be quickly guessed. As you become more and more accustomed to the game, harder words can be chosen and more complicated dramatizations worked out.

After the common words are worn out, limit the choice to trees, or flowers, or songs, etc. Or combine the charades with a bit of geography and dramatize the names of countries, cities, or oceans. Advertising slogans, Bible stories, and scenes from famous stories and books make good subjects for charades.

Here are a few possible words: air-plane, ought-toe-mow-bill, buck-an-car, car-pet, con-sty-two-shun-all, deck-oar-ate, do-out, hand-eur-chief, eye-scream, inn-dig-go, in-fan-sea, my-crow-scope, sigh-co-analysis, sauce-age, and Wash-ink-ton. For flowers try Jack-in-the-pulpit, cow-slip, pan-sec, sun-flow-ber, two-lip, or day-see. Date, palm, fir, pear and plae have wonderful possibilities for tree charades.

Charades are always more fun if they are done in costume. Collect old dresses, suits, shoes and odd scraps of material in a special "charade" cupboard or drawer and then you'll be prepared when someone gets the sudden urge to play-act.

Thieves Deliver Wood

BEND, ORE.—Allen Grant thought it would be quite a chore to get the 17 cords of firewood he'd cut to his home 18 miles away.

Courts Kept Busy

By Ma's Pay Check

Such Tales Are Now Told by Men Seeking Divorce.

KANSAS CITY.—"Well, mama makes good money but she blows it all on beauty shops, clothes and saloons." That's the 1942 style divorce court testimony.

For it's the man who brings such tales to court nowadays as often as it is the woman, says Edward Selter, commissioner of social service for the city welfare department.

Husband as well as wife often alleges nonsupport. And the little woman, too, is not so willing to listen to back talk from her husband when she's getting her own pay envelope, Selter indicates.

It all adds up to more divorces, he sighs.

Court records agree with him. Thus far this year, 1,496 divorce suits have been filed, 158 more than in the same period a year ago. And 1,268 have been granted, 247 more than the 1941 total to this date.

It's the war, many lawyers agree.

"The little woman's paycheck sometimes is a very disturbing influence indeed," comments Michael D. Konomos, Greek immigrant, whose boyhood shoe-shining career paved the way to his law school education.

The glamor of a uniform is another big reason for the increase in divorce suits, he explains. Wives compare civilian husbands with members of the armed forces—all to the marked disadvantage of the husbands.

Another attorney, Grover Childers, says wartime prosperity is affecting men just as much as women.

"Some of the men like liquor and company of other women better than they do their homes."

"Maybe in the past they sat at home because they couldn't afford to step out."

Ice Sculptress Handles

Pieces Up to 300 Pounds

BOSTON.—There's one woman who is cool even on the hottest summer days. She's Miss Madeline Stone, Boston's only ice sculptress, who fashions such diverse items as punch bowls, vases, tanks, battle-ships, aircraft carriers and guns from chunks of ice weighing up to 300 pounds.

Miss Stone works in a "studio" with the thermometer registering 27 degrees. She spends hours laboring over a huge cake of ice, chiseling away bits of ice to form the intricate parts of her creations, which are used as table decorations, and which last only about eight hours.

She works for a Boston ice firm and learned the art of ice sculpture from John Bellin-fante. When Bellin-fante joined the army, Miss Stone took over his job.

Despite the chilly atmosphere of her workshop, Miss Stone said she takes her vacation at a Maine beach to "cool off."

Snoring Reveals Hideout

Of Man Chased by Police

RAVENNA, OHIO.—Stanley Borys, 29, probably will be in the market for a "snore cure" if he ever gets out of trouble with the law. Borys, wanted on burglary charges, was leading police a merry chase until one Sunday morning when sleep overtook him in a hideout. Special Deputy William Dexter of Brady Lake had been tipped off that Borys would spend the night at the home of friends, so the officer took up vigil there. After waiting some time, Dexter stepped out on the porch of the house, where he heard a sawing sound. Further investigation revealed Borys under the porch, sleeping soundly and snoring loudly.

What to Do

By PHYLLIS BELMONT

A friend of mine is celebrating her fifth wedding anniversary, which I have always heard referred to as the wooden anniversary. Is this correct and will you tell me how the other years are signified?

Answer—Here is a list of some special years:

First, paper; fifth, wooden; tenth, tin; twelfth, leather; fifteenth, crystal; twentieth, china; twenty-fifth, silver; thirtieth, ivory; fortieth, woolen; forty-fifth, silk; fiftieth, gold; seventy-fifth, diamond.

Many families celebrate all of these anniversaries, but the general fashion is to observe the quarter century ones with a large celebration.

Silver and golden wedding celebrations are usually in the form of a dinner or a reception attended by friends and relatives, and as many of the original wedding party as possible.

Wallace Urges Post-War Federation; Giraud's Selection for North Africa Post Bolsters French Unity Against Axis; Russ Continue Ground-Gaining Drives

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Col. Merlan C. Cooper (left) points to map of China and Burma as he makes report to Robert Lovett, assistant secretary of war for air, in Washington. Colonel Cooper returned to the United States after serving as chief of staff of Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the China Air Task Force.

WORLD FEDERATION:

Asked by Wallace

Ever since his "quart of milk a day" speech forecasting bettered conditions for the world's underprivileged, Vice President Henry A. Wallace has been regarded as a No. 1 administration spokesman on post-war reconstruction.

Thus his latest address proposing a world council to preserve peace and promote the general welfare after the war received close inspection in world chancelleries, for it was taken as a major administration statement of future plans.

Wallace's recipe for international organization after the war: "The maximum of home rule that can be maintained along with the minimum of centralized authority that must come into existence to give the necessary protection."

The vice president outlined a four-fold objective for future peace: "To preserve the liberty, equality, security and unity of the United Nations—liberty in the political sense; equality of opportunity in international trade; security against war and business depression due to international causes; and unity of purpose in promoting the general welfare of the world."

Concerning the treatment of defeated nations he advocated not only military but "psychological disarmament."

For the American people, Wallace said, "the war is entering its grimmest phase" where we will learn for the first time the meaning of war privations. But, he added, Hitler's "desperate bid for a Nazi world order has reached and passed its highest point."

4-WAY OFFENSIVE:

By Russ Armies

The Russians continued to prove that while the summer might have belonged to the invading Nazi hosts, the winter was the season for Red revival.

Four strong Soviet armies were proving this in four separate drives against the cold and weary Germans. These offensives sprung with the purpose of destroying Nazi manpower and equipment and weakening Hitler's hold on the Eastern front were centered on the Rzhev sector, in the Stalingrad area, in the reaches of the Middle Don and in the central Caucasus.

The central Caucasus drive was the newest on the Red schedule and was started south of Nalchik, where Nazi armored mountain units had been trying unsuccessfully for weeks to break through to the Georgian military highway in Transcaucasia.

Most significant news came from the Stalingrad area, however, for Russian communiques reported the capture of Kotelnikovsk, key transportation town anchoring a 200-mile stretch of the Stalingrad-Caucasus railroad and a supply depot for the Nazis' eastern operations. Here big stores of Axis supplies were taken over by the Reds. From Kotelnikovsk the Russians began a spearhead drive toward Rostov.

Meanwhile the Red encirclement of 22 German divisions trapped before Stalingrad was tightened by Russ advances of from 37 to 58 miles from the southwest.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

WASHINGTON: The navy department announced that dive bombers from Guadalcanal had sunk a 3,000-ton Japanese vessel near Wickham Island in the central Solomons. The destruction of the ship raised the number of Japanese vessels sunk in the Solomons to 54. Wickham Island is within 120 nautical miles of Guadalcanal. There is an anchorage nearby where Japs have been active.

MOSCOW: As a reward for leading the recent successful break through the German lines on the Middle Don, Vassily Mikhailovich Badanov was elevated to the rank of lieutenant general of tank forces and awarded the highest Russian military decoration, the order of Suvorov. General Badanov's feat was described as "unprecedented in scope."

CANNED RATIONING:

Little Panic Buying

Fears that a nation-wide scramble of housewives to buy canned foodstuffs would develop following official disclosure that a point rationing system would be inaugurated as reports from retail grocers indicated only isolated instances of panic buying.

Announcement of the ration plan which covers more than 200 canned food items made by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard had been attacked by trade representatives as "premature" and almost certain to result in public hoarding and unfair distribution of available supplies.

Federal authorities defended the advance announcement on the ground that complicated controls were necessary to administer the program. They contended, too, that if the public were not notified, rumors might circulate and cause hysterical purchasing.

Grocers attributed the absence of panic buying to two major reasons. One was the government's requirement that before a rationing book could be issued, any hoarded goods had to be declared and the equivalent number of rationing coupons surrendered at the time of registration. The other was that any case of hoarding where false representation was made, might be punishable by a maximum fine of $10,000 or one year in prison or both.

CASUALTY LISTS:

Full Publicity Ahead

Confident that the American public can "take bad news," government officials revealed that the ban on nationwide publication of war casualty and prisoner lists had been lifted.

The new policy, officials said, would permit publication anywhere and in their entirety, lists of men killed, wounded, missing or taken prisoner. Previously newspapers had been restricted to publishing the names of men whose next of kin lived in their particular circulation area.

Explaining the new ruling, one spokesman declared it had been determined that the publication of casualty lists would not jeopardize national security and moreover, "the public has enough stamina and fortitude to take the bad news of long casualty lists if the papers care to publish them."

G-MEN:

Spring Neat Trap

Acting with all the detective-thriller technique for which they are famous, G-men brought to a sudden end the liberty of jail-breaking Roger ("Terrible") Touhy and his desperate henchmen, in raids in Chicago that rivaled in excitement the celebrated Dillinger case of nearly a decade ago.

Safely in the FBI bag, whose strings had been pulled by Chief J.

J. EDGAR HOOVER

Edgar Hoover, were Roger Touhy, Basil ("The Owl") Banghart and three minor criminal members of the band of seven that had escaped from the Joliet, Ill., penitentiary last October. Dead from G-man gunfire were James O'Connor and St. Clair McInerney, bank bandits and safe crackers.

The capture and killing of the desperadoes climaxed one of the most neatly laid traps in FBI history. The gang, living in separate hideouts on Chicago's North side, had been shadowed for weeks. Hoover's men moved swiftly when they sprung the trap.

TOJO:

'Real War Starts'

Bland-visaged Gen. Hideki Tojo, war minister, had no bland words for the Japanese people when he appeared before the Nipponese diet to report on the state of the war. Instead, he warned grimly that the Allies were preparing to deliver "counter-blows of great importance" and added that signs indicated "the real war is starting from now."

Tojo admitted that Jap forces in Burma, New Guinea and the Solomons were on the defensive and pointed out that the phase of surprise Jap attacks and lightning success was over. He said, however, that his armies in those areas were "successfully frustrating enemy attacks by counter-blows."

Before ending on a somber note that "Japan is engaged day and night in providing against air raids," Tojo listed some of the plunders of war his forces have acquired, adding that transports had brought home 1,800,000 tons of material

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

JESUS INSTRUCTS A GREAT TEACHER

LESSON TEXT—John 3:1-10.

GOLDEN TEXT—For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

Nicodemus came to our Lord when He was in Jerusalem for the Passover. Jesus had chosen six of His disciples, had performed His first miracle at Cana, and had made a brief visit to Capernaum, after which He came to Jerusalem for the feast.

In high and holy indignation He had driven the money changers out of the temple. The Pharisees who looked for the coming of the Messiah as a secular conqueror wondered at this new spiritual leader. It was probably as much on their behalf as his own that Nicodemus came to inquire of Jesus.

In answering his questions Jesus reveals the necessity, the nature, and the method of regeneration. The only entrance into the Christian life is by the door of the new birth. Regeneration is the act of God whereby the divine nature is imparted to the believing sinner and he becomes the child of God. He who has not entered by this way has not entered at all. He is still dead in trespasses and sins, without God and without hope (Eph. 2:1, 12).

Men seek to enter the household of God by almost any other means—culture, reform, character building—and neglect or reject God's way.

I. The Necessity of Regeneration (vv. 1-7).

Jesus was not unduly impressed by the dignity and high station of his visitor, nor by the visitor's courteous acknowledgment of His own position as a great teacher. With incisive boldness Jesus declared that this man, a cultured and distinguished ruler of the Jews, must be born again if he is to see the kingdom of God.

God is no respecter of persons. This "doctor of divinity" must be born again, just as was the illiterate fisherman. The requirements are the same for all, and the necessity as great in one level of society as in another.

The surprising thing is that this teacher of theology could be so ignorant of the one essential element of a real spiritual experience. He evidently thought he could bring his soul to eternal life by his own works, when in fact he was not able to give himself physical—let alone spiritual—life.

Two reasons are given by our Lord for the "must" of verse 7: (1) The kingdom of God is a spiritual kingdom, and cannot be entered by way of our human nature; and (2) "that which is born of the flesh is flesh" and is radically and essentially bad. To learn why the flesh is bad read Jeremiah 13:23 and Galatians 5:19-21. Scripture on this point is diametrically opposed to the teaching of unbelieving men. When such a difference arises be sure of this—God's Word is right. Follow it!

II. The Nature of Regeneration (vv. 8-13).

The new birth is a divine mystery, not fathomable by human reason. Those who insist that all spiritual truth be put through the little norm of their intelligence will never understand it or receive its blessing. The striking illustration of the life-giving and energizing wind used by our Lord is most illuminating. Wind is unseen, but the results of its movement are evident. Even so the spiritual rebirth of men is an enigma to the worldly man, but even he can see its results in godly living.

Observe the clarity and simplicity of our Lord's teaching on what is undoubtedly the most profound subject in all the world. Let us follow His example and always "make the message clear and plain, Christ receive the sinful men!"

III. The Method of Regeneration (vv. 14-10).

Many there are who ask Nicodemus' question: "How can these things be?" (v. 9). The answer is clear—"Only by faith in the Son of God, our Saviour."

Just as there was healing and life in a look at the uplifted serpent (Num. 21:8), so there is life for a look at the Crucified One. Faith receives God's perfect provision for sin.

John 3:16 may well be regarded as the greatest sentence in the greatest Book in the world. It presents the whole plan of salvation—its source, its ground, its recipients, its condition, and its result. It also reveals God's love—its "object, character, manifestation, purpose, and the result" (John W. Bradbury).

This glorious salvation is for all men—"whosoever"—but some reject it. Notice that God does not condemn them. Their own evil works and desires condemn them (vv. 17-20). God in His grace is ready and willing to save, but men love "darkness rather than light," for their works are evil. Jesus by night—out he came. Have you come? Will you come now?

Coat News

A new type of fur coat enters the fashion picture this winter. It is the coat of flat peltry that is neatly and expertly tailored along lines of Chesterfieldian simplicity. The mantled coat pictured above is of a new fur from South America called Lincoln lamb. It is fashioned with a belted back to be worn over suits and uniforms. It is in "service blue," which is a new copyrighted color. Women of discriminating taste like this new classic type in black Persian lamb, as it has an air of quiet elegance about it that is most convincing.

Winter White Plays Many Style Roles

Throughout fashion circles it's winter white that everybody is talking about. The college and "teen age" girl is so winter-white conscious she is buying her date frocks; her sports coats; her evening sweater and her dress-up hat in white. For her date frock she chooses white jersey. In the daytime she wears it with a red belt and carries a red bag. After five o'clock she changes her accessories to a gold belt and gold shoes, and a gold flower nestles in her curls.

When she buys a white sweater of softest Shetland wool, she chooses the new surplice type, and she buttons it with huge rhinestone buttons. Young girls consider the new three-quarter length capes of white fur or of teddy bear cloth quite a "find" and just the wrap to wear over their dance frocks.

For drama, try a white hat with a black costume. It should be flirtatiously small. Pert little sailors and bretons have black wing trims or tassel effects. And here's an important message—it's that white gloves have returned, and we will all be wearing them this winter.

Ruffles Trim Everything From Necklines to Hems

Designers are doing clever things with tiny ruffle trimmings this season. A flock of charming, youthful dresses are coming in with cunning little ruffles outlining the deep U-necklines, and the long slit pockets at each side of the skirt are indicated with vertical placement of the ruffles. The ruffles are of self fabric, ribbon or Val lace, or they may be a fluting of crochet. So important is the ruffle-edge theme it even appears on sweaters.

It's Orders!

Many factories are banning the wearing of finery, specifically mentioning high heeled shoes, nail polish and jewelry. According to an official notice in a leading industrial plant, standard feminine wear will consist of a short sleeved blouse or jacket, dark socks and low-heeled shoes.

Oscar used to be a first-class machinist. Five years ago he retired to live out the rest of his life on a pension.

Betsy

The little girl tugged gently at her mother's sleeve. "Now, Mother?" she asked. "Now can't we write my letter?"

"Why, of course, Betsy," Mrs. Carson grinned. "Are you going to write it or am I?"

"Well," Betsy said. "Maybe you'd better kind of say it to me. Only I'd love to write it."

"All right, then, Miss Carson, take a letter," her mother said, walking slowly up and down the room. "Ready?" "Dear Mr. Morgenthau: The way I save money for War Stamp buying is to steer all the small household for doing the jobs will go toward Victory when paid to her."

"Now make a list, Betsy. 'Windows washed, 60 cents. Apples picked from under the tree, 25 cents. Empty trash cans, 4 cents. Sold string beans from the garden, 15 cents. Sold strips of spoiled film to children for sunbaking, at one cent a yard, 20 cents. Total, $1.24. Yours helpfully, I hope,—and then I'll sign it at the bottom.'"

Betsy was puffing like a grampus from her labors. The toll, painstaking letters tottered bravely across the sheet of paper. Gravely Mrs. Carson took the pen to sign.

"Mother, would it be the proper etiquette if I signed it too?" Mrs. Carson said without a smile, and handed the pen back to Betsy.

DON'T BE FOOLED
BY A FULL JUNK YARD!

Don't listen to people who say—"They can't need scrap very badly. Look at that junk yard, or the auto graveyards—they've got plenty of scrap. And remember the last time we had a drive the stuff sat around for weeks." Tell such people these true facts . . .

Of course the junk yards are full. They are "factories" that turn out finished scrap—sorted, broken up, and bundled . . . ready for the mills of America. The scrap has to go through these yards, and it keeps going through fast!

The auto graveyards too, are busy. They specialize in used car parts, but produce plenty of scrap as well. In June alone, these yards moved 450,000 tons—for they are required to junk within 60 days as many cars as they buy.

As for Salvage Depots—communities all over the country are staging drives. All this scrap can't be taken away at once. The junkies can't handle it and the mills can't store it. But every pound is needed and will be used. We've got to pile it up ready for instant use at any time.

The day when all junk yards are empty, when the auto graveyards are cleaned out, when all the local scrap stockpiles are gone—that is the day to dread. It is a day to avoid at all costs.

So remember—steel is needed to fight the war, and millions of lives depend on it. This steel is made of 50% scrap—and the mills have not enough scrap to last even 30 days longer. Don't fail to do your part in this emergency.

Get your scrap ready for the drive that starts Monday!

Any Way It Worked

In his service with the army, Sergt. Clyde R. Meadows has seen quite a few things but he witnessed a new one at Camp Roberts, Calif., the other day. Lined up for morning shaves were several men all shirtless but one. Not only was that soldier in uniform, but he wore a fatigue jacket over his shirt. "What's the idea, soldier?" Sergeant Meadows wanted to know. The explanation floored him. "This way I can shave without soiling my shirt."

Margaret

Margaret turned off the humming vacuum cleaner, and straightened the slipcovers of the armchair and the daybed that she had pushed up to go over the rug. Then she stood quite still in the doorway and looked at the small bedroom with its southern exposure. It was as neat and impersonal as a pin. It might never have been lived in. The door stood open on the clean, bare closet. There was not a pennant, not a team picture, not even so much as an old arithmetic book left to show whose room it had once been.

Margaret stared at the walls, the furniture, and deeply, slowly, she realized that no matter what lodgers with their own trinkets and pictures might occupy it, she would always see it the old way. It was the old way that she saw it now. A pair of hard-worn gray pants lay on the floor where they had been dropped. Three baseball bats were stacked with a fishing rod in the corner. A battered red cap with a letter on it lay on the bed. And through the bed, as though it were transparent, Margaret saw another bed, smaller, and with high slatted sides.

She put the vacuum cleaner away and went down to her desk in the sitting-room. She took the fifteen dollars that the new lodger had paid that morning in advance for the room, and added to it, from her purse, three dollars and seventy-five cents more. Then she drew out a sheet of paper and began to write on it, slowly, gravely.

"To buy a bond to help train a young man to replace Don, Jr., killed on June 6th in the Battle of Midway."

AMERICA IN ACTION

DRILL INSTRUCTORS

United States Marines are rated among the best-trained soldiers in the world. One major reason for this rating is found in the basic training every marine recruit receives in "boot camp" at either Parris Island, S. C., or San Diego, Calif.

Key figures in putting thousands of recruits through this rigorous six-weeks' period of training are groups of versatile non-commissioned officers known as Drill Instructors.

The DI's, as they are called, work in pairs. As recruits arrive from every corner of the nation, they are formed into platoons of from 66 to 74 men and each platoon is placed under the charge of a duo of DI's.

It then becomes the duty of the Drill Instructors to transform some 70 men from every walk of life—farmers, mechanics, accountants, reporters, truck drivers, schoolboys—into a trained, disciplined group of men who walk, talk, think and act in the best marine manner. The average age of their charges is 20. And they have just six weeks for the task.

The DI's must guide their men through intensive practice in drilling, manual of arms, combat principles, dressing, shooting the rifle and pistol, throwing the hand grenade and handling the bayonet.

The DI's must be good teachers in order to give instructions in first aid, field sanitation, military courtesy, guard duty, scouting and patrolling, security on the march and other subjects with which every marine is expected to be familiar.

They must set an example in military courtesy, neatness, military bearing and countless regulation proceedings.

Probably most important of all, however, the Drill Instructors teach discipline. They teach men to obey orders without question—to do what they are told, when they are told, whatever the orders may be. At the end of the "boot" period, the platoon of well-trained marines leaves for advanced work at special schools—but the DI's remain behind. They get the evening off—and start in the following day with 66 to 74 new recruits.

"cluck";

Forbid their lips the right to pass,
He "lives," is "hep," or "cooks with gas."

Let us crusade for clearer phrase;
And teach the harm this jargon plays.

Or, better still, let's start a move
To get OURSELVES "into the groove!"

My own attitude toward slang must be somewhat reserved. It easily may be overworked; and it must be used sparingly, if at all, in serious speech or writing. But it cannot be gainsaid. Such words as "nice, bogus, mob, crook, hobo, racketeer, fake, spunk" used to bring agonized yelps from the purists; but the words have moved to the right side of the tracks and now dwell in amity among the elite.

Slang, if I am permitted to coin an epigram, is: idiom in the larval stage.

U. S. Civil Service Positions Announced

Federal agencies need qualified applicants in engineering, drafting and radio so urgently that new liberalized examination requirements in all three fields were issued today in Washington by the United States Civil Service Commission. Oliver Hughes, Local Secretary for the Commission announced.

Persons interested in becoming Federal Engineers, (any branch), Junior Engineers, Engineering Draftsmen, or Radio Inspectors may secure full information on new requirements and applications for applying from Mr. Hughes at the Antioch postoffice.

There are no written tests and no maximum age limits, and applicants will be accepted in the Commission's Washington office until further notice.

It is also announced that applications for Air Safety Investigator will be accepted by the Commission until further notice.

Jan. 9—Last Day for Farm Truck Gasoline Appeals

The Office of Defense Transportation has advised all farmers that all appeals for correcting errors in the amount of gasoline allowed on the certificates of war necessity for the operation of their farm trucks, must be made by January 9. These appeals should be at the A.A.A. office in Grayslake where they will be acted upon by the County Transportation Committee with recommendations and sent to the Office of Defense Transportation in Chicago.

The purpose of the War Certificate plan, ODT officials emphasized, is to allow truck and bus operators, including farmers, sufficient gasoline, tires and parts for their essential needs. Any farmer who has been issued a Certificate of War Necessity which does not take care of his essential needs, is urged to take the matter up with his County Farm Transportation Committee.

Formal Introduction
Pilot graduates at Turner Field, Ga., were individually presented with their diplomas by the commanding officer. As each man received his diploma, the colonel gave him a hearty handshake and a word of congratulation. But one pilot was so impressed by the ceremony and the fact that he was really getting his wings that he approached the officer, gave him a snappy salute and when the colonel extended his hand for congratulations, he gulped and said excitedly: "I'm mighty pleased to meet you, sir!"

Jazz for Non-Payers

Taxpayers who do not pay up in Turkey are to have a bad time, if a novel suggestion, whereby six drummers will perform outside their houses for one hour a day, becomes a law.
